

Image Orientation Apparatus and Method

Abstract

- 5 A digital imaging system, such as a digital camera or video recorder, including an image sensor, an orientation sensor, and an image manipulator. The image manipulator receives image sensor orientation data (camera orientation data), and real image orientation; and adjusts the virtual image orientation.